Missouri Academy of General Practice Sponsors Symposium on Chest Diseases

The Missouri Academy of General Practice and the American Trudeau Society are sponsors of a Symposium on Chest Diseases (Category 1, Credit 9 hours) to be held January 17 and 18 at the Missouri State Sanatorium, Mt. Vernon, Missouri. A registration fee of $2.50 includes Sunday dinner. Reservations should be made as soon as possible. All Missouri physicians are invited, regardless of membership in the Academy of General Practice.

Wyandotte County Medical Society Elects 1959 Officers

The 1959 officers for the Wyandotte County Medical Society were elected at the December meeting as follows: Matthew R. Fitzpatrick, President; W. W. Abrams, Vice-President; Wray Enders, Secretary; and Gretchen Guernsey, Treasurer.

Charles C. Dennie attended the meeting of the American Academy of Dermatologists in Chicago, December 6-11.

Florence MacInnis has been elected president of the Kansas City chapter of the Marquette University Alumni Association of Kansas City.

Mrs. Maude E. Wallace and Richard W. Anderson were married December 6 in the Visitation Catholic Church.

Miss Annette Galyon of Evanston, Illinois, became the bride of Paul C. Parsons, son of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene O. Parsons. The marriage took place at the Country Club Christian Church December 20.

Leo Pollock has been elected vice president of the Phi Beta Kappa Association of Greater Kansas City.

Every Physician Knows

. . . that many ocular affections are unaccompanied by pain or external redness. The complaint is usually failure of sharp vision or discomfort on using the eyes. Certainly the thoughtful family physician will insist that his patients come under the care of a person qualified to recognize organic disturbance — an M.D., Eye Physician.

as a local or topical anesthetic

Xylocaine is routinely fast, profound and well tolerated. Its extended duration insures greater postoperative comfort for the patient. Its potency and diffusibility render reinjection virtually unnecessary. It may be infiltrated through cut surfaces permitting pain-free exploration and longer suturing time.

Accent on Youth

The Committee on Aging in the Council of Social Agencies have conducted a survey to determine how well the various churches and social agencies were meeting the problem of the aged. This should be of concern to all of us who look forward to an extended serene and orderly existence when we retire. That is, we assume that everyone is looking forward to this—the alternative is so depressing.

A few excerpts from the Committee report is of interest. It finds that comparatively few aged persons are entirely isolated from their family groups. But there are more basic fears that beset the aging person before the question of isolation comes up and one of these is the realization that the inexorable loss of stature will be upon us before we know it.

As a result of more education, improved communication and other factors that characterize twentieth century advancement, the older citizen has lost an important function. "The culture, philosophy and traditions of the past which the older generation transmitted to those that followed has to a large extent diminished, thereby reducing the stature of the older generation in the social structure". Society has a sort of "Hollywood concept that regards youth as the typical and most important" period of life. The accent on youth has put the oldster in an unfavorable light.

With the longer period of schooling for the young and the development of arbitrary ages for retirement, advancing age develops anxieties which comes with a loss of job and segregation. A man with a job is a somebody, he still is an entity, and he fears he will be a nobody without a job.

But there are compensations of a kind. Retirement income maybe, from government or industry and the knowledge that governmental or volunteer welfare agencies are giving a good deal of time to discussing his plight. Not the least of these is assurance that modern medicine will "guarantee a long and expensive illness before death".

Propaganda for Reform: An Italian View of the Proprietary Evil.—A Murri, professor of clinical medicine at Bologna, protests against the way he is importuned to prescribe only made-in-Italy pharmaceuticals. He declares his unswerving patriotism, but insists that the physician's duty is to prescribe that which is best to restore the health of his patients. He holds that to elevate the pharmaceutical industry of Italy, that must be founded a supreme council of chemists, pharmacists and clinicians who will examine the made-in-Italy pharmaceuticals with the severest scientific impartiality. (Jour. A.M.A., Sept. 7, 1918.)

Bitro-Phosphate — The A.M.A. Chemical Laboratory reports that this appears to be a five grain tablet of calcium glycerophosphate. Since a bottle containing forty-two tablets sells at one dollar and this price is sixteen hundred per cent greater than the cost of the calcium glycerophosphate contained therein, it is asked if this comes within the excess profit tax. The claims made for Bitro-Phosphate are those which were made for calcium glycerophosphate when it was erroneously supposed that organic phosphates were more readily assimilated than inorganic phosphates. Bitro-Phosphate is sold by the Arrow Chemical Company. E. S. Prather, the present owner of this company, has been interested, directly or indirectly, in a considerable number of questionable products and schemes. (Jour. A.M.A. Sept. 14, 1918.)

The Patriotic Medical League in Italy.—In a recent issue of the Unions dei Medici Italiani per la Resistenza Nazionale of Italy, the work of the A.M.A. Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry is described in detail, by Dr. V. Ronchetti, physician in chief of the Ospedale Maggiore of Milan. He refers to the work of the Council to show what is being done in the United States in this line, "in a truly, admirable, simple and practical manner," and compares this with the ineffectual control of pharmaceuticals in Italy. He holds that it should not be a difficult matter to co-ordinate certain departments in Italy's universities to form the nucleus for an istituto di controllo for medicinal products—an institution which would serve as a guarantee for the sick, as a guide for the manufacturing chemists in their production, and for physicians in their application of the products (Jour. A.M.A. Sept. 14, 1918.)

Psychopathic Personalities

By

Harold Palmer, M.D., Philosophical Library, New York, N. Y., 1957.

179 pages, cloth binding, $4.75.

Dr. Palmer has produced an interesting and rather comprehensive review of certain important psychiatric syndromes aimed primarily toward a non-psychiatric audience. The title is somewhat misleading since it would imply a major consideration of the basic characterological disorders which we are wont to consider under the term psychopathic personalities. His initial chapter does cover this but the remainder of the book deals with such clinical areas as schizophrenia, depressive states, obsessions, hysterias, epilepsies, tension syndromes, paranoid states and "mania."

As Dr. Palmer himself says, "My main purpose has been to achieve a mode of presentation of psychiatry acceptable to workers in other disciplines including those concerned with the management of human beings." I would categorize his viewpoint as being basically psychobiological in the broadest Myerian sense. He attributes his main inspiration, however, to the writing of William James and Sigmund Freud. Generally his style is entertaining, informative and readable, although at times his way of expression may be difficult for most American readers. As an example, in speaking about schizophrenia, "Perhaps one may speak of an incoordination or personality all awry which augurs ill."

To some, however, this may add to their interest in the book and throughout one encounters a broad cultural and extensive clinical knowledge which Dr. Palmer sprinkles effectively throughout the book. In places the book is somewhat out of date, particularly when he considers the area of physiological treatment of psychoses. This is quite excusable, however, when we consider the fact this book must have been written two to three years ago at a time when the more recent advances in physiological treatments were still very much in the exploratory stages.

In summary, this book will constitute an enjoyable and useful experience. To the practicing psychiatrist or general physician who has read rather extensively in psychological areas, much that is presented will appear somewhat "old hat." It is not designed as a textbook, and for students and others reading primarily for up-to-date knowledge there are many better presentations.

City Motor Car Licenses by Mail

Envelope-form applications for the 1959 City Stickers are now available for Kansas City, Missouri, car owners. Most residents will receive an application enclosed with their city personal tax return which is being mailed now. Car owners can obtain them at any bank, police station, fire station, at the City Hall, or by writing to the Revenue Division, Second Floor, City Hall.

Tax receipts should not be enclosed, merely the account number of the paid tax receipts. Enclose a check or money order, made payable to the City Treasurer. The 1959 City Sticker and receipts will be mailed.

The envelope-form type of application blank is the prime reason for the absence of confusion and large crowded lines which formerly marked "sticker deadline" time. This plan has simplified matters and made it much more convenient for car owners.

Only those persons who have paid City personal taxes last year may use the mail. Those who did not, must appear in person at the City Hall.

Doctors, too, like "Premarin"®

THE doctor's room in the hospital is used for a variety of reasons. Most any morning, you will find the internist talking with the surgeon, the resident discussing a case with the gynecologist, or the pediatrician in for a cigarette. It's sort of a club, this room, and it's a good place to get the low-down on "Premarin" therapy.

If you listen, you'll learn not only that doctors like "Premarin," but why they like it.

The reasons are fairly simple. Doctors like "Premarin," in the first place, because it really relieves the symptoms of the menopause. It doesn't just mask them — it replaces what the patient lacks — natural estrogen. Furthermore, if the patient is suffering from headache, insomnia, and arthritic-like symptoms due to estrogen deficiency, "Premarin" takes care of that, too.

"Premarin," conjugated estrogens (equine), is available as tablets and liquid, and also in combination with meprobamate or methyltestosterone.
